Dear Jeff:

Saving, rebuilding, and enriching lives is what Allied Insurance's corporate citizenship is all about. The unprecedented weather this summer has given us many opportunities to help communities rebuild.

Allied has invited several of our independent insurance agents in the areas most affected by the summer floods to provide financial support to nonprofit organizations to help restore communities. As you may know already, an Allied agency has selected your organization to receive funds through this program.

I'd like to personally extend this invitation to you to join us for a luncheon where Allied representatives, along with our carrier agents, will present our support to many of the selected nonprofit organizations.
